ABSTRACT

The Phase VI Architectural Survey of Arlington County was conducted between August 2001 and December 2002 by the architectural and historic preservation firm of E.H.T. Tracerics, Inc. under the direction of the Virginia Department of Historic Resources (VDHR) and the Arlington County Department of Community Planning, Housing and Development. The project consisted of the reconnaissance survey of 1,010 properties encompassing approximately 500 acres that represent the areas and periods of significance of Arlington County as defined in the Phase I Architectural Survey Report, prepared in 1996. This most recent survey focused on the completion of the reconnaissance survey documentation of the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor, also known as the Metro Corridor, and sections of Neighborhood Service Areas A, B and C. The six phases collectively have documented 5,584 properties in Arlington County.

As stated in the historic context, completed as part of the Phase I Architectural Survey in 1996, the period of significance for Arlington County began in 1674 with the patenting of the Howson Tract. The development and growth of the county was directly related to Washington, D.C. and the federal presence as early as 1791, when the land was surveyed as part of the nation's capital. Returned to the Commonwealth of Virginia by the United States Congress in 1846, Arlington officially separated from the City of Alexandria in 1870. Adopting the name Arlington County in 1920, the community then began its greatest phase of development, growing from a population of 16,000 in 1920 to 170,936 in 1990. Today, almost all of the land in Arlington has been developed, and consists of extensive single-family residential neighborhoods, and areas where commercial, office, and multiple-family dwellings dominate.

The Phase I on-site reconnaissance survey, which was to consist of 750 properties, centered on the residential neighborhoods of southern Arlington, specifically Neighborhood Service Areas F, G, and H, as well as selected Target Areas. The substantial number of properties within this part of southern Arlington County that had reached the fifty-year-age limit set by the federal and state governments prompted a reduction of the date guidelines. The on-site survey included the Target Areas -- Nauck, Columbia Heights West, and Arna Valley -- and 95% of Neighborhood Service Area H with a total of 761 resources documented. Phase II, conducted in 1997, continued the reconnaissance survey process within specified Neighborhood Service Areas F, G and H. This phase of on-site survey identified 1,015 properties, thereby comprehensively documenting all resources erected prior to 1936 in southern Arlington County. Phase III of the project included the identification, documentation, and assessment of 776 additional properties in central Arlington County. Specifically, during this stage of the project, Neighborhood Service Area D, Barcroft, Clarendon, and Columbia Forest in Service Area F, and the community of North Highlands in Service Area E were targeted.

Phase IV focused on the major commercial and transportation sector known as the Rosslyn-Ballston or Metro Corridor. Running northeast to southwest, the corridor roughly flanks

Wilson Boulevard from Rosslyn to George Mason Drive in Ballston within Neighborhood Service Areas D and E. A small portion of Service Area C is also included in the Corridor, specifically in the neighborhood of Stonewall Jackson (also known as Bluemont). The corridor, one of Arlington's two Metrorail transit corridors targeted for high-density development, is approximately three-quarters of a mile wide and three miles long. A total of 805 properties were documented in the eastern part of the Corridor during Phase IV. Phase V continued the survey efforts of Phase IV, focusing on the documentation of 809 properties at the western end of the Rosslyn-Ballston. The work completed the documentation of Ashton Heights and Lyon Village, progressing into Ballston-Virginia Square. This most recent survey, Phase VI, recorded Ballston-Virginia Square in Service Area D and a portion of Stonewall Jackson in Service Area C, Waycroft-Woodlawn and Langston-Brown in Service Area A, and GlebeWood and Waverly Hills in Service Area B. This has resulted in the comprehensive survey of the Rosslyn-Ballston or Metro Corridor to include all properties constructed prior to 1954.

Thus, to date, all of Neighborhood Service Areas D, E, F, G, and H have been comprehensively surveyed to include all properties constructed prior to 1936 or 1954 as specified by the development periods of those areas. Further, on-site survey has been completed in the neighborhoods of Langston-Brown and Waycroft-Woodlawn in Service Area A; GlebeWood, Waverly Hills, Cherrydale, and Maywood in Service Area B; and part of Stonewall Jackson (Bluemont) in Service Area C. The planning staff of Arlington County is surveying Arlington Forest in Service Area C.

Each resource documented was architecturally defined, physically assessed, photographed with black-and-white film, and evaluated for its contribution to the historic context of Arlington County. The impressive number of historic properties within the targeted survey areas forced methodology based largely on historic maps and county needs. E.H.T. Tracerics, Inc. used the 1936 and 1954 Sanborn Fire Insurance Maps and the 1943 Franklin Survey Maps to properly identify historic resources to be included in the survey. Properties within the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor were comprehensively surveyed to the 1954 date of construction as documented by historic maps.

Following the reconnaissance survey, thirteen properties were recommended for further investigation at the intensive-level. Further, the neighborhoods of GlebeWood and Waverly Hills were researched and recommended as potential historic districts, which is defined by the National Register of Historic Places as possessing a significant concentration, linkage, or continuity of sites, buildings, or structures united historically or aesthetically by plan or physical development.

INTRODUCTION

Project Purpose and Goals

The Architectural Survey Report of Arlington County, Virginia is a multiple-phase project funded for a sixth year (RFP Number 2001-2002-0001) in August 2001 under the terms of the Virginia Department of Historic Resources' Cost-Share Program. The Virginia Department of Historic Resources (VDHR) in conjunction with Arlington County contracted with E.H.T. Tracerics, Inc. to conduct the sixth phase of the reconnaissance survey of Arlington County, Virginia. The work was to include the survey and documentation of approximately 1,000 properties, a detailed survey report, and recommendations regarding further study of any, or all, of the resources retaining significance and integrity within the historic context established in Phase I (conducted in 1995-1996).

Scope of Work

The project anticipated the survey of previously identified properties as well as those resources not previously identified that met the age guideline established for each neighborhood within the targeted survey area. The survey area was to include Neighborhood Service Areas C and D along the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor and progress into Service Areas A and B, south of Lee Highway. Each resource was assessed, surveyed, documented, and photographed to the reconnaissance level on Virginia Department of Historic Resources field forms. This process allowed for a thorough study of each resource and its date of construction substantiated by historic maps, building materials, architectural style, and use. All of the properties surveyed were entered into the Department of Historic Resources' Data Sharing Software (DSS) database. Utilizing DSS, a final survey report was produced that presented the finding of the sixth survey phase and allowed for a comparison of each of the resources identified in all six of the survey and documentation phases. Within the established significance, each property and neighborhood was assessed for its contribution with recommendations for further study as a potential landmark or historic district.

Staffing

Funded by VDHR in conjunction with Arlington County, Phase VI of the Survey of Arlington County was contracted to E.H.T. Tracerics, Inc., an architectural history firm specializing in historic preservation. Laura V. Trieschmann served as Project Director/Senior Architectural Historian, responsible for overseeing the completion of the project, writing the final survey report, and conducting the final assessment of the resources. Architectural historian Jana E. Riggle oversaw the on-site fieldwork and the production of the survey products and final survey report. Ms. Riggle was responsible for the archival research and documentation conducted at local, state, and federal repositories, as well as contacting the community associations. Jennifer J. Bunting, Amanda M. Didden, Robin J. Weidlich, and Kristie Baynard conducted the on-site survey fieldwork, DSS data entry, and initial assessment of the properties.

HISTORIC THEMES

The Virginia Department of Historic Resources (VDHR) has developed eighteen historic themes that capture the context of Virginia's heritage from the earliest times. These themes are defined in the Survey Findings section of this report. Whenever possible, the documented resources were placed within the eighteen historic context themes established by VDHR to allow for a better understanding of the development impacts affecting the survey area. Seven of the eighteen themes are discussed here as they pertain to the extant historic resources within the Phase VI survey area of Arlington County. The most prevalent theme is the Architecture/Community Planning theme, followed closely by the Domestic theme. Resources relating to the Commerce/Trade, Education, Religion, Social, and Funerary themes were also identified, although only minimally. The remaining eleven themes – Landscape, Industry/Processing/Extraction, Government/Law/Political, Transportation/Communication, Military/Defense, Health Care/Medicine, Settlement, Ethnicity/Immigration, Technology/Engineering, and Subsistence/Agriculture, and Recreation/Arts – were not identified.

As the survey efforts move northward in Arlington County, the number of themes identified has fluctuated. During Phase I, eleven of the eighteen themes were documented – Architecture/Community Planning, Domestic, Commerce/Trade, Religion, Funerary, Education, Social, Settlement Patterns, Recreation/Arts, Military/Defense, and Ethnicity/Immigrations. Phase II included fourteen of the eighteen themes – Architecture/Community Planning, Domestic, Commerce/Trade, Religion, Funerary, Education, Settlement Patterns, Government/Law/Political, Military/Defense, Recreation/Arts, Social, Subsistence/Agriculture, Transportation/Engineering, and Ethnicity/Immigration. Phase III identified resources relating to eight of the themes – Architecture/Community Planning, Domestic, Commerce/Trade, Education, Religion, Funerary, Settlement, and Social. The Phase IV survey recorded the same eight themes with the addition of the Industry/Processing/Extraction theme. The Phase V survey documented seven of the themes – Architecture/Community Planning, Domestic, Commerce/Trade, Education, Religion, Social, and Transportation/Communication themes.

The change in the number of themes documented during each survey phase may be attributed to the suburban context of central Arlington County and the many residential communities that developed during the second quarter of the 20th century. Arlington County's close proximity to Washington, D.C., as well as its importance as an outlying component of the nation's capital, appear to have reduced the thematic diversity in the central region of the county. The loss of physical reminders of the county's past as a 19th-century rural community, and later, as a turn-of-the-20th-century streetcar suburb, tends to increase significance for properties related to minimally represented themes identified throughout the survey process. This is especially true for properties related to the Subsistence/Agriculture, Transportation/Communication, Commerce/Trade, Settlement Patterns, Religion, and Military/Defense themes. Although a few properties have been documented for their association with these themes, they tend to be examples dating from the second and third quarters of the 20th century, thus indicating that pre-20th-century examples are significant as rare examples of any given property type. Upon completion of the entire survey effort, anticipated after Phase VIII, a more substantial analysis of the thematic diversity should be prepared.

THEME: ARCHITECTURE/COMMUNITY PLANNING

The areas covered by the Phase VI survey of Arlington County experienced their greatest surge of development during the early part of the 20th century. The survey recorded a variety of different styles and forms of buildings. The majority of these buildings date from the second quarter of the 20th century, predominately 1930 to 1945. Largely domestic, the buildings' styles range from late-19th-century Queen Anne to the architectural expressions of the Modern Movement. The early- to mid-20th-century examples of the Bungalow/Craftsman, Tudor Revival, and Colonial Revival styles dominated.

Notably, several styles identified during the Phase I survey were not recorded in the Phase II survey. These include the Prairie style, Shingle style, Late Victorian and Late 19th- and 20th-century Revivals, and the Federal style. This lack of stylistic diversity increased as the survey moved northward. Five architectural styles noted during the Phase II survey were not recorded in Phase III – Greek Revival, Italianate, Classical Revival, International, Art Deco, and Italian Renaissance. Unlike Phase III, the Phase IV survey noted examples of the Italianate, Moderne, Art Deco and International styles. The Phase V and Phase VI surveys documented many of the same architectural styles noted previously. Such styles as the Spanish Colonial Revival and Classical Revival, noted in previous surveys, were not recorded during the Phase VI survey.

Queen Anne Style

All of the properties identified as reflecting the Queen Anne style of architecture were single-family dwellings dating from the Reconstruction and Growth period (1865-1917) and the World War I and World War II period (1918-1945). Examples of the style include the houses at 4210 Washington Boulevard (000-7850), 4737 Wilson Boulevard (000-7929), 715 North Wakefield Street (000-7981), and 4610 Wilson Boulevard (000-8010), to name a few. Overwhelmingly, these dwellings were constructed of wood frame on solid masonry foundations. The two-story house at 4806 Wilson Boulevard (000-8073) is one of the only noted examples of a masonry structure ornamented in the Queen Anne style. Dating from circa 1895, the dwelling is constructed of brick laid in five-course American bond.

One of the most imposing, and oldest, examples of the Queen Anne style noted is the dwelling at 5151 14th Street, North (000-5787). This late-19th-century building exhibits one of the more prevalent forms documented within many of the predominantly Queen-Anne style residential neighborhoods of Arlington County; an irregular plan with a Tshaped form augmented by a wrap-around porch. The wood-frame building is clad with weatherboard. The porch has a half-hipped roof ornamented with square posts, a scroll-sawn spindle rail, and square balusters with cut bracketing. The building displays a corner tower with a mansard roof, overhanging eaves with modillions, and a decorative wrought-iron widow's walk. The two-and-a-half-story house is detailed with projecting enclosed and open gables, cornice returns, bed molding and plain friezeboard, corner boards, single and paired 2/2 double-hung windows, scrolled brackets, and a cross-gabled roof sheathed with pressed metal shingles.

By the second quarter of the 20th century, the irregular form commonly associated with the style was lost in favor of the rectangular box. The front-gabled form, complete with full-width or wrapping porch, displays the turned posts, cornice detailing, and window configurations of the Queen Anne style. These dwellings – 4809 8th Road, North (000-7930) and 2102 North Dinwiddie Street (000-8502) – show the dilution of the applied detailing in an effort to provide more economical housing on narrow lots. This form of the Queen Anne-style residential building was the most prevalent. Such examples include 4741 Wilson boulevard (000-7928), 4737 Wilson Boulevard (000-7929), 4805 8th Road, North (000-7931), 4830 9th Street, North (000-7956), 5008 22nd Street, North (000-8503), and 5010 22nd Street, North (000-8504)

Colonial Revival Style

Gaining popularity as early as 1910, the Colonial Revival style was the most dominant architectural style documented during the Phase VI efforts, a trend noted in the Phase I, Phase IV, and Phase V surveys as well. The style was not confined within any one neighborhood of the survey area; rather it was widespread throughout the survey area. Examples predominately were residential, including single-family and multiple dwellings and churches.

Commonly found features of the style include accentuated main entry doors, symmetrically balanced facades, single and paired double-hung sash windows, and side gable or hipped roofs. A good example of the more high-style buildings illustrating the Colonial Revival style is the Mount Olivet Methodist Church at 1500 North Glebe Road (000-8553). The brick building has a projecting central entry marked by a two-story front-gabled pediment with tapered Ionic Columns. The double-leaf door is framed by a wood surround with chamfered edges and a keystone, and is topped by a broken semi-circular arched pediment with a cross at the center. A shallow boxed cornice with modillions, and a wide frieze accentuate the dominating front-gable roof. A wood-frame steeple set on a lantern crowns the building's façade.

Like the Queen Anne style, the Colonial Revival style was adapted to meet the housing needs of suburban Arlington County in the middle part of the 20th century. Consequently, the larger high-style dwellings were reduced to three-bay-wide rectangular structures with projecting porticos, returns, open pediments, and Tuscan columns. A popular form identified during the previous survey phases, this form was minimally represented in the Phase IV survey.

The two-and-a-half-story dwelling at 838 North Woodbridge Street (000-7889) is an excellent example of the Colonial Revival style diluted in form and ornamentation. The brick-clad dwelling has a side entry covered by a wood-frame portico. This structure has a front-gabled roof with a coved ceiling supported by square posts. The 8/8 double-hung, wood sash windows have brick sills and soldier-coursed lintels. The side-gable roof has a shallow cornice largely obscured by the metal drainpipe and gutter. Other noted examples include the dwellings at 839 North Buchanan Street (000-7937), 512 North Wakefield Street (000-7997), 747 North Albemarle Street (000-8041), and 743 North Albemarle Street (000-8042).

Similarly, the one-and-a-half-story "Cape Cod" cottages of the 1930s and 1940s exhibit many of the familiar details and forms commonly associated with the Colonial Revival style. This more modest form provided an adequate and affordable housing mode for the growing population of working- and middle-class residents of Arlington County, while mimicking the fashionable style of the period.

The dilution of the Colonial Revival style was frequently seen on Dutch Colonial Revival-style houses, suburban adaptations of the more high-style Colonial Revival. Examples can be seen at 714 North Abingdon Street (000-8033), 3509 14th Street, North (000-8162), 3809 13th Street, North (000-8209), and 1314 North Stafford Street (000-8246).

The modest two-and-a-half-story dwelling at 714 North Abingdon Street was constructed in 1936, reflecting the features of the Dutch Colonial Revival style. The wood-frame structure is clad with weatherboard siding on a solid masonry foundation. The side-gambrel roof, indicative of the style, is clad with asphalt shingles and pierced by a full-width shed-roof dormer holding three single window openings. The three-bay-wide façade is defined by the side entry, sheltered by a shed roof supported on brackets, and two single window openings holding 1/1 double-hung replacement windows. The window openings flank the exterior brick chimney that dominates the façade.

Tudor Revival Style

As the third most popular style noted in the survey for a fifth year, the Tudor Revival style was identified throughout the survey area. Overwhelmingly, this style was noted in Waverly Hills and the northern section of Ballston-Virginia Square, particularly along North Vermont Street, North Vernon Street, 15th Street, North and North Wakefield Street. Once part of a cohesive residential subdivision, the thirty Tudor Revival-style houses in this area are now separated by Interstate 66.

These buildings, predominantly single-family dwellings, exhibit multiple-gabled roofs, prominent brick chimneys typically attached to the façades, exposed rafter ends, and steeply pitched roofs. Previous survey phases documented that the number of dwellings reflecting the Tudor Revival style were equally divided between wood-frame and brick-faced examples. During the Phase VI survey, the majority of Tudor Revival-style buildings were constructed of masonry, typically brick with half-timbering, stucco cladding, stone detailing, and skintled bricks. The dwellings, standing one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half stories, reflected a variety of plans with side and central entries. Examples include those buildings along the 1400 blocks of North Vermont Street, North Wakefield Street, North Vernon Street, and the 4500 block of 15th Street, North. As discussed under the Queen Anne and Colonial Revival styles, many of the Tudor Revival-style resources found in Arlington County reflect the suburbanization of the style rather than the high-style expression. The distinguishing features include the placement of the exterior brick chimney on the façade, application of stone as an accenting material around openings or on chimneys, and steeply pitched front gables, sometimes detailed with half-timbering. These elements were often applied to small suburban dwellings, most often those reflecting the Cape Cod form. More modest examples include 3801 Washington Boulevard (000-8226), 1215 North Vermont Street (000-8347), and 4807 11th Street, North (000-8664).

The modest Cape Cod form of the dwelling at 1404 North Vermont Street (000-8409) is one example of the varying forms and massing of Tudor Revival-style buildings in Arlington County. Constructed in 1935, the one-and-a-half-story house is constructed of brick laid in stretcher bond with skintled bricks. The central entry is set within a projecting front-gabled bay with a steeply pitched roof and single shoulder. The entry bay is detailed with rough-cut uncoursed stone. The narrow semi-circular-arched entry opening is framed with rough-cut stones and holds a vertical-board wood door with a small diamond light. Front-gabled dormers now clad with aluminum siding pierce the side-gabled roof. An exterior-end brick chimney projects from the side of the structure.

The single-family dwelling at 4807 11th Street, North (000-8664) is worthy of note as an example of the Tudor Revival style with the exterior chimney dominating the façade. The one-and-a-half-story structure, constructed of brick in 1935, measures three bays wide and two bays deep with a one-story side addition. The massive chimney, which is now painted white, is detailed with rough-cut stones, a corbeled cap, and sloping single shoulder. The chimney is pierced on the first story by the primary entry into the dwelling, the only documented example of this treatment in Arlington County to date. The semi-circular-arched opening, detailed with a soldier-coursed lintel, is deeply recessed and holds a paneled wood door. Symmetrically placed above the entry opening is a small six-light window with a rowlock-brick sill and rough-cut stone keystone with soldier-coursed lintel.

Bungalow/Craftsman Style

The second most popular style and building form identified in the survey area is the Bungalow/Craftsman. These Bungalow/Craftsman-style buildings typically have low-pitched gable roofs, wide overhanging eaves, exposed rafter ends, and full-width front porches.

Overwhelmingly, the bungalow forms documented in the survey have traditional Craftsman-style detailing such as exposed rafter ends, paired and triple windows, staggered wood shingles, and inset porches supported by tapered square columns set upon brick or concrete block posts. Illustrations include 708 North Wakefield Street (000-8006), 3600 14th Street, North (000-8153), 3450 13th Street, North (000-8179), 1303 North Quincy Street (000-8213), 3809 Washington Boulevard (000-8228) 3813 Washington Boulevard (000-8229), and 3901 Washington Boulevard (000-8230).

A significant number of Craftsman-style dwellings with irregular, non-bungalow plans were recorded. The Craftsman style, which represented an independent western movement in American architecture, was widely popular from 1903 to 1928. Displaying natural materials and technology, Craftsman-style buildings have projecting bays with banked windows, vertical muntins, rough-cut concrete and stone finishes, wood-shingle cladding, exposed rafter ends and wide overhanging eaves. A substantial number of Craftsman-style dwellings were noted in the Phase VI survey of Arlington County, including 800 North Buchanan Street (000-7932), 3803 Washington Boulevard (000-8227), 1320 North Stafford Street (000-8245), and 1212 North Stafford Street (000-8255).

Art Deco

Although a popular 20th century architectural influence, the Art Deco style was recorded only minimally during the on-site survey of primary resources in Arlington County. Interestingly, this style was not identified during the Phase I and III surveys, and noted only six times during the Phase II efforts. It was identified twenty-five times in the Phase IV survey and just four times in Phase V. The Arlington properties reflecting this fashionable style were erected during the second quarter of the 20th century, and range in use from multiple dwellings (apartments) to commercial buildings. Typically two- to three-stories in height, the Art Deco-style buildings have minimal applied ornamentation. Rather, the stylistic interpretations are reflected in the building's form, particularly rooflines, projecting wall planes, and curved elements. The color contrast distinctive of this style is presented in the variation of building materials, including glass blocks, metal, granite, limestone, marble, and stucco. Noted examples include the apartment building at 4030 Washington Boulevard (000-7826) and the commercial store at 1142-1144 North Stuart Street (000-7863).

The design of the brick apartment building at 4030 Washington Boulevard, albeit vernacular, was influenced by the Art Deco style, with stepped parapet and projecting soldier-course stringcourse. The primary entry of the 1930 building is framed by shallow brick buttresses marked on the second story by four courses of light-colored brick. The subtle entablature of the building is composed of projecting bricks, panels, and alternating rowlock and soldier coursing. The building has replacement 1/1 double-hung metal sash windows and a paneled wood door with sidelights.

The commercial store at 1142-1144 North Stuart Street, constructed in 1935, is built of brick laid in six-course American bond. Set on a corner lot with a canted entry bay, the building is detailed with a stringcourse composed of brick laid in three courses of alternating soldiers and stretchers. The main entry, capped by a fanlight, is further ornamented with a herringbone pattern and diamond-shaped limestone panel.

Art Moderne

Like the Art Deco style, Art Moderne or Streamline Moderne is a stylistic category that adorned more resources in the central part of Arlington County, particularly along the major transportation corridors. The style typically lends itself well to the commercial and institutional buildings flanking these corridors. Stylistic features, like those associated with the Art Deco, are not generally applied, but are structural. This includes curved wall surfaces, slightly projecting panels or stringcourses, stepped parapets, and multiple-colored building materials. The service station at 3444 Washington Boulevard (000-7835) is an example of this style.

Gas station design began to evolve around the middle part of the 20th century, creating more efficient designs with aluminum accents and all-glass fronts. Popularized in the 1930s and continued after World War II, gas station construction resumed the shape of the oblong box with flat roofs. Another design statement was the overwhelming use of porcelain enamel metal panels. Porcelain enamel was inexpensive, durable, and nearly maintenance-free. The porcelain enamel gas stations, often designed in the Art Moderne style, were popular from the 1930s through the 1950s.

The oblong box station type expanded both sales space for products and enlarged service bays. Many oil companies began selling tires, batteries, and automobile accessories at this time. As a result, the station required a larger display room and storage area. Further, automobile repair became a key component of the gas station, requiring service bays in each building. These stripped down, functional buildings had very little exterior decoration with the detailing confined to the company's signage. To differentiate themselves, oil companies often modified the rectilinear building so that its customers could easily recognize it. For instance, the office bay might be slightly extended or the roofline might be slightly higher or lower than the garage bays. Others rounded the corners of the buildings and created corner entrances like those on the service station at 3444 Washington Boulevard.

Modern Movement

Influenced by the Art Deco, Streamline Moderne, and International styles, the buildings designed in the Modern Movement were minimal in their applied ornamentation and utilized contemporary building materials. Typically, the stylistic ornamentation was presented by the materials and forms, such as glass blocks, metal window frames, flat cantilevered roofs, and corner windows. The structures were often constructed of masonry with stretcher-bond brick or stuccoed concrete block. Surrounds were composed of contrasting masonry materials such as stone or exposed concrete blocks.

Approximately thirty one-story buildings in the northern part of Ballston-Virginia Square display many of these modern materials. The enclave is located in the 1200 and 1300 blocks of North Stuart Street, North Stafford Street, and North Taylor Street. The buildings, many altered by the application of a variety of exterior cladding materials, have hipped roofs with a square plan. The entry is located in the center bay of the three-bay-wide façade. The house at 1243 North Stuart Street (000-8262) is an excellent, unaltered illustration of this modern building. Dating from circa 1940, the central entry is accessed by masonry steps with a deck surrounded by wrought-iron rails. The entry opening is surrounded by slightly projecting concrete blocks that read as quoins. A cantilevered-hipped roof that projects from the main roof of the building shelters it. The building is marked by three-light casement windows that wrap around the corners of the façade to the side elevations. The side elevation, fronting the driveway, is similarly fenestrated with a central entry accessed by side-entry masonry steps and sheltered by a cantilevered-hipped roof.

Modern building materials similarly influenced the 1956 design of the Jordan Manor Apartments at 4525-4527 Wilson Boulevard (000-7882). The complex consists of two attached buildings, collectively housing twenty-one (21) units. The large casement and fixed windows are held in metal frames with metal sills and lintels uniting the openings. The primary entry, located in the center bay of each building, consists of a single flush door framed by one-light sidelights. A large multi-light window set symmetrically over the entry illuminates the stair hall. The primary and secondary entry openings are sheltered under cantilevered flat roofs of metal with rounded corners. The use of horizontal metal is continued along the edges of the flat roof, which has metal coping on the parapet wall.

Other Styles Recorded

The building types that did not reflect a particular style were designated as "Other." This designation was used the majority of the time in the survey area and largely included domestic dwellings that were one-and-a-half stories in height and most of the associated historic outbuildings identified. As noted in previous surveys of Arlington County, the most prevalent form was the L-shaped dwelling with a cut-away front porch. Generally without ornamentation, this building type was constructed during the housing boom of the World War I to World War II Period and the New Dominion Period. The lack of detailing on many of the houses, apartments, and commercial buildings countywide allowed for quick inexpensive construction using readily available materials. Additionally, many of the domestic examples, and several of the commercial buildings, did not conform to any style because the original structure had been severely altered, losing or obscuring the original forms and details.

THEME: COMMERCE/TRADE

RESOURCE TYPES: Specialty Stores; Professional Institutions

With improvements in transportation, the county was opened to development, particularly commercial enterprises that flanked the major thoroughfares. The Phase VI survey completed the on-site documentation of the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor, which was largely recorded during Phase IV and Phase V. The spine of the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor, Wilson Boulevard was transformed into a primary transportation route in the early 1920s. Commercial development flanked the street, with residential neighborhoods to the north and south. The greatest concentration of early-twentieth-century commercial development, specifically specialty stores, was located in Ballston-Virginia Square. By the latter part of the 20th century, professional institutions, such as offices and banks, were converging on the Ballston community. Further, the need for housing resulted in the razing of historic properties, particularly residential resources and modest commercial buildings, in favor of high-rise residential buildings. As a result the number of historic commercial buildings documented as part of Phase VI was minimal, confined to the northern section of Ballston-Virginia Square along North Monroe Street, North Stuart Street, North Nelson Street, Washington Boulevard, and North Glebe Road.

The purpose-built commercial buildings of the 20th century that were identified were generally one to two stories in height with an irregular plan. Many of the masonry structures have flat roofs with parapets, large show windows, and ornamentation presented by the varying of building materials. Examples include 3601 Fairfax Drive (000-7827), 1019 North Nelson Street (000-7830), 3444 Washington Boulevard (000-7835), 1105 North Glebe Road (000-7874), 4332 Washington Boulevard (000-7864), and 3471 Washington Boulevard (000-8189). The corner building at 1142-1144 North Stuart Street (000-7863) provides commercial space on the first story with residential housing on the upper floor. The commercial entry, flanked by plateglass show windows, is located in a canted corner entry bay at the intersection of North Stuart Street and Washington Boulevard, while the residential entry is located on the North Stuart Street elevation.

As no preconceived standards had been established for commercial architecture, retailers began to experiment with designs. By the second quarter of the 20th century, fashionable architectural styles were often employed to ornament commercial buildings. Several of the buildings are designed in the Art Deco style, while others illustrate the Moderne. Prevalent between 1930 and 1955, the Streamline Moderne style demonstrated a direct aesthetic transfer, or borrowing, of a design technique known as streamlining from automobiles and other transportation machines to the roadside buildings that served these machines. Auto part outlets, service stations, car dealerships, and tire stores were among the roadside buildings created to serve the automobile, and the streamlining of these buildings advertised their automobile-oriented function. “Speed lines”—horizontal bands of thin parallel lines—added to the illusion of movement by accentuating the streamlined contours of the building. These lines, together with swooping, aerodynamic forms, and sleek veneers symbolized modernity, progress, and efficiency. Automobiles and the buildings that were associated with them shared a dynamic, flowing aesthetic of slick skin surfaces, rounded corners, and a sensation of movement. This was achieved not only by similar design aesthetics, but also by similar materials. Automobiles and auto-oriented buildings used the same industrial materials of steel, glass, and chrome tubing—hard, shiny, slick surfaces that were novel and modern. With regard to service stations, the sleekness of enameled metal, together with the shine and sparkle of expansive glass windows, were ideal for conveying this new machine-age aesthetic. The gas station at 3444 Wilson Boulevard is an excellent example of this enamel-clad gas station form, divided to provide service bays and sales space.

THEME: DOMESTIC

RESOURCE TYPES: Single-Family Dwellings, Multiple-Family Dwellings, and Secondary Domestic Structures

During this phase of the architectural survey of Arlington County, the majority of primary resources have a historic association with the Domestic theme. The resource types identified in the survey area include single-family dwellings, multiple-family dwellings, and associated outbuildings, such as sheds, carports, playhouses, garages, and pools. Noted during the previous survey phases, intense development of domestic buildings began in the Reconstruction and Growth period (1865-1917), and extended well into the World War I to World War II period (1918-1945). The greatest period of residential growth within the survey area occurred between 1930 and 1944. The expansion of residential neighborhoods within this area of Arlington County continued well into the 1940s, eventually subsiding in the 1950s as outlying suburbs were established. Within the last two decades, however, the construction of residential housing has commenced again within the survey area with the erection of infill housing, townhouses, and high-rise apartment buildings.

One dwelling dating from the Colony to Nation Period (1750-1789) was identified during Phase I, while the oldest residential buildings identified during Phase II were constructed during the Antebellum Period (1830-1860). During Phases III and IV, the oldest residential buildings date from the Reconstruction and Growth Period (1865-1917). A single domestic building dating from the Early National Period (1790-1830) was documented in the Phase V survey, in addition to two Civil War era dwellings. Yet, as noted in the second and fourth phases of survey as well, the majority of the dwellings recorded during the fifth survey phase were constructed between 1930-1939. This period of development is ten years later than the average date identified during Phases I and III. Similarly, the greatest period of development in the area surveyed during Phase IV begins in the 1930s. This intense development extended well into the 1940s and 1950s. The residential buildings surveyed in Phases I, III, IV, V, and VI were predominately equipped with exterior end brick chimneys, rather than the interior brick chimney which dominated the Phase II survey area. The plan, form, and massing of the dwellings, however, were consistent between all survey phases.

The chronological development of Arlington County, moving south to north, appears to represent its status as a streetcar suburb of Washington, D.C., which prompted rapid growth in the surrounding communities by the second quarter of the 20th century. As a result of this suburban development, farms were often subdivided to provide buildable lots for a substantial number of single- and multiple-family dwellings. Typically, the original dwellings that stood on the property during its tenure as agricultural land were razed in favor of modern housing.

Although more single-family dwellings were identified, a substantial number of the domestic resources recorded represent multiple-family housing. Introduced in Arlington County in the 1920s, the multiple-family dwellings reached their culmination in the survey area during the World War I to World War II Period (1918-1945). The variety of forms commonly associated with the multiple-family building type includes low-rise garden apartments, mid- to high-rise apartment buildings, and planned apartment complexes. Between the years 1920 and 1945, the apartment buildings within the boundaries of the survey area ranged from two to four stories in height. By the middle part of the 20th century, the structures began to reach to six stories, and eventually peaked at nine stories. The height of the multiple-family building noted in Phase VI survey area followed the low-rise garden apartment type. In the Ballston-Virginia Square area, many of the historic low-rise resources are overshadowed by or razed in favor of high-rise apartment buildings that have been erected in the last two decades.

The single-family resources in the Phase VI survey area are typically one-and-a-half stories to two-and-a-half stories in height, constructed on solid brick or concrete-block foundations. Equal numbers of wood-frame and masonry structures were surveyed, with a distinct increase in the use of masonry construction as the survey progressed northward.

When comparing all domestic resource types identified during Phase VI, it was noted that the roofs are primarily side gable or cross gable, and typically clad in asphalt shingles. The dormers recorded were predominately front gable with little applied ornamentation. The chimneys, mostly constructed of brick, are both interior and exterior. A minimal number of stone and concrete-block chimneys were recorded, in addition to metal- and vinyl-clad shafts. The more modest dwellings in the survey area are three to five bays wide with a central entry; however, a significant number of side-passage dwellings were documented. The vast majority of the dwellings have one-story porches or porticoes on the facades. Although the double-hung window was overwhelmingly prominent throughout the survey area, casement and fixed windows were documented. The majority of the window openings were framed in wood, although a substantial number of metal sashes were noted. The architectural styles in the survey area range from late-19th-century Queen Anne to the Modern Movement of the mid-20th century. The dominant domestic style is the Colonial Revival, which was the most prevalent architectural style noted during Phases I, II, IV, and V. The Bungalow/Craftsman was noted more often during Phase III. This latter style and building form was the second most documented style noted during the Phase VI survey. Additionally, the number of Tudor Revival and Modern Movement dwellings increased dramatically for the first time since the survey began.

Typically, the majority of suburban domestic buildings have associated outbuildings. Since most suburbs throughout the nation developed after 1900 were predicated on the use of automobiles, garages were an essential feature. Although, as the automobile became an essential tool, the freestanding garage was lost in favor of the attached garage, which often dominated the facades of residential buildings. Unlike the garages, the sheds in the survey area appear to be extremely unassuming and of a prefabricated nature. The utilitarian function of the buildings dictated the one-story, front-gabled form of the wood frame sheds.

Reconstruction and Growth Period (1865-1917)

Within the survey area, a minimal number of domestic resources were identified for their association with the Reconstruction and Growth Period. All of these properties are single-family dwellings. The need for housing within close proximity to Washington, D.C. commenced at the turn of the 20th century with improved transportation, amenities, and an influx of government workers. As a result, nominal development spurts occurred between 1900 and 1917. The greatest period of improvement, however, began in the second decade of the 20th century. As noted during previous survey phases, most of the dwellings were erected about 1910-1915, signifying the substantial rise in the population of the survey area as a suburb of the District of Columbia. Traditionally, the domestic buildings were one-and-a-half-stories or two-stories in height with full-width porches on the facades. Typically, the porches are one story in height and three bays wide, although wrap-around porches were recorded. The rooflines are low-pitched side, front, or multiple gables.

The domestic resources dating from around the turn of the 20th century are larger in form than the dwellings erected by the second decade. Typically, the buildings stand two to two-and-a-half stories in height. Many of the structures have irregular plans created by wrap-around porches, rear ells, and projecting front or side bays. Those examples with rectangular plans are notably wide and set on raised foundations, with deep porches that extend the width of the façade. Some of the best-documented examples of this turn-of-the-20th-century domestic form include the dwellings at 5151 14th Street, North (000-5787), 4809 8th Road, North (000-7930), 4611 North Carlin Springs Road (000-7994), and 4806 Wilson Boulevard (000-8073).

The two-and-a-half-story dwelling at 4611 North Carlin Springs Road, erected in 1894, is an excellent vernacular interpretation of the domestic forms commonly erected during this period. The rectangular building is two bays wide with a central entry asymmetrically piercing the façade. The steeply pitched side-gable roof has a dormer with coupled windows and an interior brick chimney. The stylistic ornamentation is confined to the one-story full-width front porch with its large square Tuscan posts and half-hipped roof.

Constructed in 1895, the brick dwelling at 4806 Wilson Boulevard stands two stories in height with a shallow-pitched hipped roof. The square structure, featuring a side-passage plan, measures three bays wide and two bays deep with a one-story wood-frame addition on the rear. A canted three-sided bay that extends the full height of the structure marks the side elevation. The first-story openings are elongated and the second-story openings are standard, each holding 2/2 double-hung wood sash windows with projecting wood sills and segmental-arched soldier lintels. A full-width front porch presented in the Queen Anne dominates the façade. The porch is set on brick piers and has a half-hipped roof supported by fancy turned posts. It is detailed with scrolled brackets and square balusters.

World War I to World War II Period (1918-1945)

Between 1918 and 1945, the greatest phase of development began in the survey area. Although the number of single-family dwellings remained relatively constant when compared to previous survey phases, the number of multiple dwellings radically increased. Typically, the domestic buildings of this period are one to two-and-a-half stories in height with one- and three-bay-wide front porches. The plan of the dwellings usually has a central passage and is two rooms deep. Rooflines are overwhelmingly side gable and clad in asphalt shingles. Continuing the architectural styles and plans of the previous period, the domestic buildings of the World War I to World War II period are primarily designed in the Colonial Revival style. The Bungalow/Craftsman form dominated the early part of the period, substituted by 1930 with the rectangular form of the Colonial Revival style. Further, the Cape Cod and American foursquare were popular building forms in the 1930s and 1940s. Notable examples of the Tudor Revival and Art Deco styles were also recorded.

By the second quarter of the 20th century, the traditional domestic form continued to be interpreted for economy and convenience. The resulting bungalow mimicked the plan and massing traditionally associated with the fashionable Queen Anne style; yet, the bungalowoid form was invariably one to one-and-a-half stories in height. Overwhelmingly known as a style rather than a form, the bungalow is covered by a low-pitched, intersecting gable roof that encompassed the often wrapping porch. The irregular plan allowed for additional window openings and direct access to the porch from various secondary rooms. The modest arrangement of the wood-frame buildings made them one of the most popular low- to middle-income domestic forms in growing suburban communities across the United States.

Often, in Arlington County, the bungalow form was reduced in scale because of the narrow building lots on which they were construction. The form adapted well, retaining many of its identifying features. This includes a deep porch set within the main roof, dormers with varying window sizes and types, paired and triple window openings, and expansive overhanging eaves. The stylistic ornamentation, albeit vernacular, reflected the Craftsman-style influences with exposed rafter ends and multiple-light upper sash windows. The use of rock-faced concrete blocks in the construction of the foundation, porch supports, and associated outbuildings was common.

The need for more economical housing prompted further alteration of the bungalow prototype as the irregular form was reduced to a rectangular box set on a slightly raised foundation. The intersecting and side-gable roofs more commonly associated with the bungalow were lost in favor of the front gable roof. The natural light provided by dormers was substituted by single or paired window openings that pierce the gable end of the façade. In keeping with the fashionable use of concrete blocks, foundations and porch supports were constructed of panel-faced blocks rather than the more expensive rock-faced blocks. The modest dwelling at 1206 North Stafford Street (000-7841) is an excellent example of the bungalow transformation to meet the economical and housing needs of Arlington County in the second quarter of the 20th century.

The larger dwellings dating from this period more often illustrated the Colonial Revival style, gaining popularity in suburban neighborhoods after the turn of the 20th century. Typically, the houses display a central-passage plan, although a substantial number of side-passage plans were documented. The rectangular buildings commonly measure three to five bays in width with a variety of rooflines, including side gable and gambrel. Drawing from several popular architectural styles of the early part of the 19th century, the dwellings exhibit accentuated entry doors, normally decorated with pediments supported by pilasters or slender columns. Dormers range in form from front gable, semi-circular arched, shed, and eyebrow windows. These three- to five-bay-wide dwellings are commonly constructed of wood frame or brick with side-gable roofs clad in asphalt shingles. A minimal number of stone dwellings were also noted in the survey area. These structures presented the same form as their wood-frame and brick counterparts.

The increasing need for mass-produced housing at a low cost led to the reinvention of the “Cape Cod” form, popular during the 18th century. The form is one to one-and-a-half stories in height with a side-gable roof and a single end chimney. Unlike its ancestor, the 20th-century Cape Cod house was pierced with dormers that allowed the upper story to be more fully utilized. The façades were commonly marked with entry porticoes or porches. Rear additions and projecting bays on the façade augmented the Cape Cod. The stylistic detailing of the Cape Cod forms generally followed the Colonial Revival style, although elements characteristic of the Tudor Revival style were noted. The most popular form found throughout the survey area, the Cape Cod buildings are typically three bays wide, two bays deep, and have a central-passage plan. Detailing includes the flat door surrounds with shallow Tuscan pilasters supporting a slightly projecting entablature, a corbeled brick cornice across the facade, and rectangular 6/6 double-hung, wood sash windows with brick sills. Examples include 816 North Wakefield Street (000-7881), 838 North Abingdon Street (000-7913), 843 North Buchanan Street (000-7938), 870 North Abingdon Street (000-7940), and 859 North Abingdon Street (000-7947).

It was noted throughout the survey area that the modest cost-effective form of the Cape Cod building was often manipulated to present individuality for a specific builder, developer, and/or neighborhood. This is illustrated in the Cape Cod buildings in the 800 block of North Abingdon Street. The box form of the Cape Cod is augmented by a front gable that replaced the smaller dormers, thereby providing more living space on the second floor of the building. The applied detailing and stylistic interpretation of the buildings varied, further separating the individual dwellings. The house at 862 North Abingdon Street (000-7942), dating from 1940, measures three bays wide and one bay deep on a solid masonry foundation. The one-and-a-half-story structure is faced with uncoursed stone on the façade and stretcher-bond brick on the side and rear elevations. The dominating front gable is finished with rough stucco and half-timbering. It is pierced by a paired diamond-paned casement window with a wide surround detailed with back banding.

Another of the building forms of the early 20th century noted in the survey area is the American foursquare, which was commonly ornamented with Colonial Revival- and Craftsman-style detailing. The two-story, four-room-per-floor house plan without a hall is a much-used concept that refers to the hall/parlor plan of the 18th century. One illustration of the several American foursquares exhibiting architectural detailing fashionable in the early part of the 20th century is the house at 4810 9th Street, North (000-7953). This imposing freestanding dwelling, constructed in 1900, has the characteristically distinguished two-story height, hipped or pyramidal roof with pronounced eaves and dormers that light an extra half-story, large front porch, and the lack of ornate exterior ornament. The overall shape is a cube, and the main entry opening is located off-center. Other examples of this popular building form are located at 722 North Wakefield Street (000-8008), 4814 Wilson Boulevard (000-8074), 3809 14th Street, North (000-8195), and 1221 North Utah Street (000-8317).

Housing demands also prompted the construction of twin dwellings that provided for more than one family within a single structure. It is one of the more popular domestic building forms in Arlington County. The twin dwelling at 4906-4908 22nd Street, North (000-8494) is an uncommon example of this form, with its sloped roof and parapet. Reminiscent of the Italianate style in form, the building stands two stories in height on a solid concrete foundation. This wood-frame building, clad now in vinyl siding, has a unifying full-width front porch supported by square posts. The primary façade reads as a single dwelling, pierced on the first story by two single-leaf side-passage entry doors.

More typically in Arlington County, the twin dwellings reflect the influences of the Colonial Revival style of architecture. This is illustrated on the twin dwellings at 1222-1224 North Lincoln Street (000-8193), 4824-4826 9th Street, North (000-7955), 4836-4838 9th Street, North (000-7957), 857-859 North Burlington Street (000-7959), 844-846 North Burlington Street (000-7961), 856-858 North Burlington Street (000-7964), and 4815-4817 9th Street, North (000-7966).

Commonly, these buildings have side-gabled roofs with shallow boxed cornices and side entries. The form of the front porch and/or cladding materials often suggests the existence of two single-family units within one structure. Similarly, the unification of the twin dwellings to read as a single structure is indicated by the full-width front porch and cladding materials.

Rowhouses were also becoming a more common building type in Arlington County. Monroe Courts, dating from 1938, is a row of attached dwellings in the 1000 block of North Monroe Street. Like many of the garden apartment complexes of the 1930s and 1940s, Monroe Courts presented attached housing with individualized cladding, roof-forms, and dormers. The building maintained a single roof structure that alternated the mansard, front gable, and side gable forms. The entry detailing, all Colonial Revival in style, included semi-circular fanlights, flat lintels, and transoms. Window openings were single, coupled, or tripled, holding either 1/1 or 6/6 double-hung sash. Although not documented as part of this survey, the rowhouses on North 21st Road and North Brandywine Street in GlebeWood, consisting of seven rows of buildings providing 105 units, are similarly detailed.

The construction of garden apartments in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area reached a peak in the mid-1930s and early 1940s. In Arlington County, local officials and the federal government wanted to avoid the construction of sub-standard, large-scale developments that would dissolve into slums after the housing emergency eased. Thus, one of the focuses of apartment developments between 1934 and 1954 was the need to construct affordable, attractive and permanent housing. Cost efficiency was continuously emphasized in the construction process, especially for projects backed by the Federal Housing Administration.

Many of the residents who relocated to Arlington during this period were employed under the New Deal programs of the 1930s. The number of Arlingtonians continued to grow, with the population reaching 26,615 residents in 1930. This number was nearly doubled ten years later with a total of 57,040 residents in 1940. Of those employed in 1940, more than 40% were involved with the government on a local, state, or federal basis. These workers, who made up the largest group of families and individuals in need of rental housing, spurred the government to become involved in housing developments. “Increased rentals for...apartment units..., coming in the wake of the largest federal payrolls since the World War (I), were the primary reason for the great revival of...building. Thousands of new employees of the New Deal agencies rapidly took up the slack in residential space, causing rentals to increase 25 percent and more.”<sup>1</sup> The Federal Housing Administration (FHA), established in 1934, became the primary mortgage insurers for thousands of residential projects, both single-family and multiple dwellings, throughout the country. The FHA's involvement in Arlington County directly impacted a number of large apartment complexes that would be constructed in the county between 1934-1954. Arlington County's location along the banks of the Potomac River across from Washington, D.C. attracted a number of developers with FHA-insured mortgages to construct these large-scale housing projects. Where the FHA was not directly involved, they influenced the designs and layouts of hundreds of complexes and individual apartments being built in Arlington County. The dramatic increase in population during the 1930s and the limited availability of affordable rental housing for the middle-class government worker made the county a prime development area.

The FHA standards addressed seven specific issues: community, neighborhood, site, buildings, dwelling units, services and cost. Regarding the community, FHA required that the area currently support a "number of diverse sources of income for the families to be served and that there exists a need for the type of development contemplated." The FHA also required that the developers give "assurance[s] of continued harmonious land uses; [and] integration of the neighborhood and project." The site was required to be free from adjacent topographic and industrial influences, conform to site characteristics and have a land coverage per acre, "for large-scale projects limited to 20-25%."<sup>2</sup>

The influences of the FHA on the apartment housing in the survey area is illustrated at the Fairfax Drive Apartments, located at 4800 9th Street, North (000-7952), 4801 9th Street, North (000-7965), 4842 Fairfax Drive (000-7975), 4832 Fairfax Drive (000-7976), and 4800 Fairfax Drive (000-7978). Dating from 1944, the five-building complex contains forty (40) one-bedroom units.

The New Dominion Period (1946-present)

In keeping with their historic counterparts, many of the dwellings erected during this modern period embodied the styles, materials, and forms traditionally utilized in Arlington County. One modern plan that emerged was the ranch dwelling. This one-story structure, often constructed of metal or wood frame with brick cladding, is generally rectangular in form with a projecting bay or front gable. The gable or hipped roofs have shallow pitches counterbalanced by the front gable of the projecting bay. The entries are traditionally set off-center, and recessed within the wall plane. There is no symmetry as a variety of window openings are utilized, each opening suggesting the use of the interior space it illuminates. For example, the larger picture windows light the living room and the standard double-hung windows provide a more reduced amount of natural light to the bedrooms. The building at 800 North Woodrow Street (000-7896) is an example of the houses constructed on many of the unimproved lots during the mid- to late 20th century.

Domestic Outbuildings

Typically, domestic resources constructed in Arlington County had associated outbuildings, particularly garages and sheds. These structures were commonly built of wood frame or brick, depending on the construction material of the main dwelling. The most significant number of outbuildings were constructed during the World War I to World War II period, usually simultaneous with the original construction period of the main dwelling.

In an attempt to attract upper-middle-income residents, many of the dwellings were constructed with the associated garage as part of the main block. Many of the dwellings from the second quarter of the 20th century present a rectangular three- to five-bay-wide plan augmented by a one-story side wing that houses the automobile. As the dependence on the automobile increased, the garage became an essential part of the dwelling. This is illustrated at 814 North Abingdon Street (000-7819), 4704 8th Road, North (000-7919), and 4710 8th Road, North (000-7920).

The second most common outbuilding identified was the shed, which is actually a catchall term often applied to any storage or unidentified structure. The form is typically one-story and is constructed of wood frame or prefabricated metal. Other notable outbuildings include carports, barbecues, playhouses, pools/pool houses, and guesthouses.

THEME: EDUCATION
RESOURCE TYPES: Schools

As similarly noted in the previous survey phases, few properties associated with education have been identified countywide. Although numerous education-related facilities were located within the survey boundaries, the majority of these resources have not yet reached the fifty-year age requirement, and therefore were not included in the reconnaissance survey.

The Phase VI survey effort recorded historic schools, including Arlington Science Focus School at 1501 North Lincoln Street (000-8196) and Washington and Lee High School at 1300 North Quincy Street (000-8243).

Arlington Science Focus School, educating kindergarten through fifth-grade students, is located in the former Thomas Page Elementary School, constructed circa 1950. The Arlington Science Focus School is designed to develop extensive understanding of science content and processes through inquiry-based learning.

The cornerstone, which contained a list of the faculty members, of Washington and Lee High School was laid in the fall of 1924. The building was built on the site of a 19th-century silkworm farm. The modern school, which opened on October 6, 1925 to approximately 600 students, contained eighteen classrooms, two laboratories, a gymnasium, a cafeteria, an auditorium, a library, and a separate shop building. It was the first junior high school in the state of Virginia and the first to have free textbooks. The first addition and improvements to the school were undertaken in 1932, to meet the growing student population from junior to high school (2,089 students). This work included forty-one (41) additional classrooms, new offices, and another gym. In 1938, with Public Works Administration (WPA) funds, another addition was completed. A new wing and a large library with Palladian windows and two reading rooms were built in 1942. The rifle range was also constructed in the shop area. With the construction of additional schools, the junior high school was moved and in 1949, Washington and Lee officially became a high school. In 1962, new auxiliary gyms were opened, and the science wing was expanded 1964 and 1969. In 1970, a new two-story library was constructed. The swimming pool was added in 1973. The main section of Washington and Lee High School (built in 1924) was torn down amid much opposition in 1976. A smaller, less stately building was built in its place. An open-space instructional environment was included in the new design with classrooms organized by department.

THEME: FUNERARY

RESOURCE TYPES: Cemeteries and Funeral Homes

Three cemeteries were documented as part of the Phase VI survey, located at Mount Olivet Methodist Church at 1500 North Glebe Road (000-8553), Calloway United Methodist Church at 5000 Lee Highway (000-8509), and Mount Salvation Baptist Church at 1961 North Culpeper Street (000-8469).

Mount Olivet Methodist Church cemetery dates from the 1880s, with approximately two hundred marked graves. Surrounded by a fence, the cemetery is located to the west of the church with the markers laid out in linear rows. Birch, Veitch, Dye, and Shellhorn are some the family names represented in the cemetery. Several of the family plots are surrounded by low stone walls. The oldest marker is for Thomas Fawcett, a child who was born and died on March 1, 1884. Among those buried in the Mount Olivet cemetery is Sue Landon Vaughan, one of the founders of Decoration Day (now Memorial Day). In Mississippi during April 1865, she began the practice of decorating the graves of Civil War dead, both Confederate and Union.

Calloway United Methodist Church cemetery, dating from 1915, contains approximately thirty-one (31) marked graves. The cemetery, which is not enclosed, is linear in design, located to the west of the church with the markers facing east. The oldest stone in the cemetery belongs to Etumetra Caphard, born March 3, 1906 and died October 10, 1915. Other burials include Lucinda Jefferson (died June 14, 1924), Eliza Picks (1865-1925), Ferguson Ruthe (1903-1920), and Charlotte A. Chinn (1954-1921). The most recent interment occurred in 1959.

Mount Salvation Baptist Church contains approximately one hundred (100) marked and unmarked graves. The linear-designed cemetery is located to the east of the church with the markers facing eastward. The earliest marker is that of Richard E. Mooney (1872-1936) and the most recent interment occurred in 1971. The markers vary in material and shape, including granite, marble, limestone, and metal headstones, ground markers, crosses, tablets, and footers.

Arlington Funeral Home, dating from about 1945, is located at 3901 Fairfax Drive (000-7836). The purpose-built funeral home draws from the Classical and Colonial Revival styles of architecture, displaying an elliptical portico with Tuscan columns and pilasters. The building, constructed of brick laid in six-course Flemish bond, is detailed with brick quoins, a limestone cornice, and 8/12 double-hung sash windows with jack-arched lintels.

THEME: RELIGION

RESOURCE TYPES: Places of Worship

Denominations recorded include three Methodist churches and a modern Baptist church. The history of these properties, although not reflected in the current church buildings, dates from the latter part of the 19th century and the early part of the 20th century, reflecting the growth of the residential neighborhoods making up the survey area.

Mount Olivet Methodist Church at 1500 North Glebe Road (000-8553) is Arlington's oldest church site in continuous use. Land for a Methodist Protestant Meeting House was conveyed in 1855 by William and Ann Marcey and John B. and Cornetia Brown, for whom Brown's Bend Road (now 16th Street, North) was named. The first church was completed in 1860. During the Civil War, Union troops used the church as a hospital and subsequently destroyed it. The present structure, erected in 1948-1949, is the fourth church on the site.

Calloway United Methodist Church at 5000 Lee Highway (000-8509) is a two-story masonry structure dating from 1904. A two-story bell tower that serves as the primary entry into the church augments the cross-gabled roof. Lancet-arched stained glass windows illuminate the open nave. The granite cornerstone, documenting the history of the congregation, records the building as the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1904 when constructed, renamed the Methodist Church in 1940, and renamed the Calloway United Methodist Church in 1979.

Central United Methodist Church at 4201 North Fairfax Drive (000-7838) began with the meeting of a few people in 1909. The growing congregation, organized May 14, 1911, had a yellow-brick church constructed with plans immediately undertaken to purchase more land and erect a larger church. The Ladies Aid and J. W. Myers raised the necessary funding. The cornerstone was laid on November 8, 1923. The first service was held in the basement March 10, 1924 and the sanctuary was completed with the dedication service Thanksgiving Day, 1925. The parsonage on North Vermont Street was purchased in 1927 soon after the arrival of Reverend E. S. Sheppe, Jr.

Construction of the education building began on August 9, 1945, and the commemoration service was held February 23, 1947. The parsonage on Evergreen Street was purchased and the old parsonage sold to Jack Parker in 1953. In August 1955, the education building was expanded and a new youth center completed. A church library was started in 1957 and the beautiful chapel was completely furnished with altar, electric organ, and pews in 1958.

In 1962 the sanctuary and social hall were refurbished for about $160,000 and a new steeple was added by D.A. Foster. The Arlington Historical Society placed a historical marker on the church site in 1969. A chair lift to accommodate the disabled was installed in 1971 and a history room was established on the first floor of the education building on November 23, 1975. A gymnasium was added to the youth center in 1980, and a lighted bulletin board was erected in front of the church in June 1981 and dedicated to the memory of Warren A. Hitt. A room on the third floor of the education building was designated for use by the choir in 1983. The elevator was installed in 1997, making the church accessible to all.<sup>3</sup>

Mount Salvation Baptist Church at 1961 North Culpeper Street (000-8469) is a non-historic church dating from circa 1980. The one-and-a-half-story church is constructed of brick, laid in stretcher bond. It is set on a solid poured concrete foundation with fixed metal one-light stained glass windows. A brick parapet wall accents the flat roof.

THEME: SOCIAL

RESOURCE TYPES: Meeting Halls

The American Legion Post 139 at 3445 Washington Boulevard (000-8362) was constructed in 1952. The first application for a temporary charter was signed at the drug store in Ballston in August 1921. It was approved with the following names: O. H. Beasley, Dr. J. A. Boston, J. L. Crupper, Jr., J. P. Devine, R. S. Gardner, A. K. Gilman, Dr. S. T. Noland, A. 13. Prosize, W. E. Payne, F. M. Sherwood, S. T. Swecker, S. F. Thomson, E. M. Tyler, Dr. J. H. Walton, J. H. Warner, W. W. Woodruff, Dr. W. C. Welburn. The first official meeting was held September 28, 1921 at the Ballston Schoolhouse.

The two-story building, largely devoid of windows, is clad in a brick veneer on a solid stretcher-bond brick foundation. The façade fenestration is comprised of six metal three-light casement windows and three one-light fixed plate glass windows. The entry door, sheltered by a one-story porch supported by metal posts, is a two-leaf metal/plate glass door. Influenced by the modern movement, the vernacular building is further defined by the quoin-like corner brick and grates over the basement window.

RESEARCH DESIGN

Objectives

The goal of the multi-phase project was to gather and evaluate information about the historic properties and their resources within Neighborhood Service Areas A, B, C, and D in an effort to more fully comprehend and support their contribution to the County's heritage. Particular emphasis was placed on those properties located within the defined Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor, a three-mile-long transportation route located along Wilson Boulevard between the Potomac River and Glebe Road. The project was intended to: 1) synthesize and complete documentation of previously identified historic properties into a computerized database format; 2) collect additional information and survey previously unidentified or unevaluated historic properties and potential historic districts; and 3) heighten public awareness about historic resources in Arlington County to encourage citizen appreciation of their history.

Scope of Work

The project was organized into basic tasks:

- 1) the survey and documentation to the reconnaissance level of approximately 1,000 historic resources in Neighborhood Service Areas A, B, C, and D, with emphasis placed on those properties within the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor. Phase I included the identification and survey of 761 resources within Neighborhood Service Area H and the Target Areas of Arna Valley, Nauck, and Columbia Heights West. Phase II completed the survey of 1015 resources in Neighborhood Service Areas H and G, Glen Carlyn, and a portion of the Barcroft neighborhood community. Phase III comprehensively documented 776 resources in Neighborhood Service Areas D and F, as well as North Highlands in Service Area E, all to the 1936 date of construction as based on historic maps and on-site survey. Phase IV, identifying 805 properties, began the study of the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor at the eastern end of this major transportation corridor. Phase V continued the survey efforts of Phase IV, focusing on the documentation of 809 properties at the western end of the Rosslyn-Ballston corridor; and
- 2) the identification of potential historic districts and individual properties eligible for listing on the Virginia Landmarks Register and the National Register of Historic Places.

Methodology

Approach

E.H.T. Tracerics approached this project as a coordinated effort of experienced professional architectural historians working with the Department of Community Planning, Housing and Development and the Virginia Department of Historic Resources (VDHR) in an effort to produce a cost effective survey that would meet VDHR's high standards, as well as provide necessary information to Arlington County.

This was accomplished by working closely with Arlington County and its representatives to identify important architectural resources; by taking full advantage of the Data Sharing Software (DSS) database to document and analyze historic properties; by understanding the history and geography to insure that selected cultural resources accurately illustrate the County's historic context through the best-preserved and least-altered examples as subsumed under VDHR's eighteen historic context themes; by utilizing years of sound survey experience to ensure an efficient effort; by employing a management methodology that is designed to result in an on-time performance; and by maximizing the potential of an experienced staff.

To achieve the desired products, E.H.T. Tracerics organized a team with the credentials, skills, and successful experience to do the work. The team was composed of five members: a Project Director/Senior Architectural Historian and five Architectural Historian/Surveyors. The Project Director/Senior Architectural Historian managed the administration of the survey project, directed the tasks and was responsible for preparing the Final Survey Report. She also functioned as the primary architectural historian, working with the team to evaluate the resources based on the historic context prepared in Phase I. Additionally, the Senior Architectural Historian was responsible for assessing potential landmarks and historic districts. The Architectural Historian/Surveyors managed the information on previously recorded resources – synthesizing, consolidating, undertaking data entry, locating the properties and resources, and updating records as appropriate. They worked together in the field, surveying and documenting resources that met the survey criteria.

Basic to the methodology was the determination of criteria for selecting properties to be surveyed using VDHR standards, historic themes, and requirements. This was a team effort that allowed on-site decision-making. A system was established to select properties for survey by synthesizing the VDHR standards, the eighteen VDHR historic context themes, the basic historic context outline, and VDHR contractual requirements. Next, a plan was developed for managing the information on the previously recorded properties, for updating records as necessary, and for identifying and surveying 1,000 new resources for survey at the reconnaissance level.

The recordation of the properties to VDHR standards ensured the successful completion of the contract. Implementing the Survey Design, 1,010 resources were surveyed to a reconnaissance level by E.H.T. Tracerics. All previously recorded properties were located and information brought up to a standard equal to that employed for the newly identified resources.

Each reconnaissance level survey form recorded a single property, including its primary and secondary resources. Each completed form for resources that contained a contributing primary resource included a detailed physical description of that primary resource as well as a brief description of the secondary resources on the property. It also included a brief evaluation of the property as an entity, placing it in its local historical and architectural context. Labeled, black-and-white photographs that document the resource accompanied all forms. The photographic documentation included a range of two to five views, with an average of three views of the primary resource and a minimum of one photograph per contributing secondary resource or group of secondary resources if located close together. The photographs sufficiently illustrate the architectural character of the primary resource: at least one photograph was taken at close range. A simple site plan sketch of the property indicating the relationship between primary and secondary resources was completed for each surveyed property. The site plans were prepared neatly in pencil on graph paper. The site plan sketch included the main road and any significant natural features. Copies of the relevant sections of USGS Quadrangle maps and county base maps were submitted with each group of forms as required.

Representative examples of cultural resources over fifty years old were selected for recordation using our understanding of the history of Arlington County and related architecture. With assistance from the VDHR staff and the Department of Community Planning, Housing and Development of Arlington County, survey priorities were established. Preference was given to those properties within the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor of Neighborhood Service Areas C and D, proceeding northward to Service Areas A and B. Efforts were made to identify the best-preserved and least-altered examples of various resource types subsumed under the eighteen VDHR historic themes. Special attention was paid to early outbuildings and structures, significant buildings in poor condition or threatened by imminent destruction, resources related to ethnic minority cultures, pre-1860 resources, including outbuildings and farm structures, previously surveyed properties that warranted updated or additional information, and significant buildings that may be affected by transportation network improvements (i.e. road or railroad construction). At the request of Arlington County, all properties with primary resources erected prior to 1954 within the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor were surveyed. Properties constructed prior to 1936 were recorded in Service Areas A and B.

Work Plan

Implementation of the proposed work was based on an incremental process as outlined in the following seven task descriptions.

TASK 1:	Project Organization and Management
TASK 2:	Survey Design (including Initial Public Presentation)
TASK 3:	Survey
TASK 4:	DSS
TASK 5:	Evaluation of Properties
TASK 6:	Architectural Survey Report
TASK 7:	Project Completion

TASK 1: PROJECT ORGANIZATION AND MANAGEMENT

Project organization consisted of the establishment of a work schedule, coordination of the team members and the County staff, establishment of work assignments, arrangement for the necessary materials to undertake the work tasks, and maintenance of the project schedule.

The project manager, largely responsible for organization and management, functioned as liaison between Arlington County, the Department of Historic Resources, and the project team. Activities included regular monitoring of the project's progress, preparation of the monthly progress reports, problem-solving in conjunction with VDHR and project staff, and attendance at required progress meetings with the County and VDHR representatives.

The project was managed through a system of task-oriented hierarchy. Incremental monitoring was combined with milestone review indicated as "results" for each task listed in the work plan. The monthly progress reports recorded milestone completion for VDHR review.

TASK 2: SURVEY DESIGN

Prior to beginning fieldwork, all existing materials relevant to Arlington County contained within the VDHR archives were reviewed. Materials contained within the County's collection at the Historical Society, the Library of Congress, the Virginia Room at the Arlington County Library and archives at other repositories in the county, as well as state and federal archives, were reviewed.

Arlington County planning staff was consulted regarding any newly proposed development projects that may affect the future of the survey areas' historic resources. Documents, including the local comprehensive plan, Virginia Department of Transportation Six-Year Plan, and public utility plans, were reviewed.

In preparation for field work, the reviewed materials, maps and previous survey route were studied to determine the best approach for covering as much of the survey area as possible.

As in all phases, properties were selected based on the Survey Criteria as stated in the RFP Section III. STATEMENT OF NEED; C. SURVEY CRITERIA. This information was discussed and the potential course of action prepared for the County staff's review and approval. The survey design was revised and up-dated as necessary during the course of the on-site and archival efforts.

During this phase, a public meeting was held to explain the survey effort to interested Arlington County officials, members of local historical associations, residents and owners. A general presentation introduced the survey team, explained the survey effort and its history, addressed County and VDHR preservation goals, and presented the survey design. Attendees were asked to provide information that might aid the effort. The presentation included slides that illustrated the accomplishments of the Phase VI survey effort and discussed the anticipation for Phase VII activities, the VDHR survey process, and the survey's potential for protecting Arlington County's historic architectural resources.

TASK 3: SURVEY

Upon completion of a survey schedule, the surveyors began the on-site survey work, following assigned routes. All work followed VDHR standards and properties selected during the on-site survey met the published Survey Criteria. Selected properties were documented to the reconnaissance level as appropriate, including site plans and photographs of the exterior and interior where appropriate (and possible). Color slides were taken as appropriate throughout the survey effort. The photographs taken on-site were developed as the survey progressed. As the 3-1/2" by 5" black-and-white photographs were processed, labeling in pencil was conducted. Negative lists, negatives and color slides were also labeled to VDHR standards. All information collected during this task was filed into property file folders.

Concurrent with the on-site survey, archival sources were researched at the local, state, and federal level, including primary and secondary sources. The bibliography developed in Phase I, and augmented in the subsequent phases, was expanded to include the additional sources. As information was gathered, it was synthesized with individual property survey files.

TASK 4: DSS

Information collected and recorded during the on-site field survey was entered into the Virginia Department of Historic Resources-Data Sharing Software database (VDHR-DSS). Data on each property surveyed was recorded as a single DSS record, as required by the VDHR survey program. At appropriate intervals throughout the project, each DSS property record was reviewed for accuracy and consistency. Upon review of the database and following corrections, frequency reports and tabular reports were generated. These reports provided organized data for analysis and incorporation into the Architectural Survey Report.

Various computer reports were generated for this project including:

- Arlington County Survey: Inventory of All Properties by VDHR ID Number
- Arlington County Survey: Inventory of All Properties by Name

VDHR-DSS was an important component of the survey, and will be a useful planning tool for Arlington County. The information in the database can be updated as needed and used to generate a variety of reports beyond those prepared for this study.

TASK 5: EVALUATION OF PROPERTIES

Reports generated by DSS were analyzed and properties considered potentially eligible as individual landmarks and as historic districts for listing on the Virginia Landmarks Register and the National Register of Historic Places were evaluated within the context of the survey database, historic themes and historic context.

TASK 6: ARCHITECTURAL SURVEY REPORT

On-site and archival findings were assembled and synthesized in preparation for review prior to drafting the final report. One set of VDHR survey file envelopes were labeled for VDHR; one set of manila file folders for the County. The appropriate documentation, labeled photographs and negatives, and site plans were placed in the appropriate envelope or file. USGS Quadrangle Maps and County Base Maps were marked to indicate the surveyed properties for both VDHR and the county. All envelopes/files were checked for completion.

The Architectural Survey Report was prepared in conformance with the VDHR Guidelines for survey reports. Historic properties associated with the relevant themes were discussed in the historic context narratives. Illustrations, including photographs, drawings, maps, tables, charts, and other graphics were prepared. The draft document was distributed to the County and VDHR.

TASK 7: PROJECT COMPLETION

All required products were prepared for the County and VDHR. The DSS documentation was submitted to VDHR. Two diskettes holding a copy of the text of the Architectural Survey Report in Word 7.0 were prepared. Two original unbound and ten (10) bound copies of the Architectural Survey Report were prepared. Two sets of hard-copy survey forms, photographs, maps, and other materials were made ready for submission. One set of negatives was prepared for VDHR. All products were submitted to the appropriate body.

At the completion of the survey, a final presentation was made to a selected official body in the County. This presentation summarized the findings and responded to questions and issues.

SURVEY FINDINGS

ARLINGTON COUNTY DATABASE HOLDINGS

The survey and documentation of properties in Arlington County was completed to the approved standards of the Virginia Department of Historic Resources. The results of the survey project are as follows:

One Thousand Ten (1,010) properties were recorded to the Reconnaissance Level. Each Reconnaissance Level Survey Form recorded a single property, including primary and secondary resources.

- One Thousand Ten (1,010) properties were evaluated as historic or significant to the historic context of Arlington County and fully surveyed to the reconnaissance level. Each form provides a detailed physical description of the primary resource as well as a brief description of the secondary resources on the property. It includes a brief evaluation of the property, placing it in its local historical and architectural context. Labeled, black-and-white photographs that adequately document the property's resources accompany each form. Adequate photographic documentation includes several views of the primary resource and a minimum of one photograph per historic secondary resource or group of secondary resources if they are located close together. Photographs illustrate the architectural character of the resource, with at least one photograph taken at close range. A simple site plan sketch of the property indicating the relationship between primary and secondary resources is included for each surveyed property. The site plan sketch indicates the main road and any significant natural features such as creeks and rivers. A copy of the relevant section of the county base map is filed with each form. The survey area was marked in pencil on a USGS map.

ANALYSIS OF SURVEY FINDINGS

The VDHR-Data Sharing Software (VDHR-DSS) is an on-line system developed to meet VDHR's computer needs and desires. Survey documentation prepared as part of Phase I through V were entered into VDHR-Integrated Preservation Software (VDHR-IPS), a system developed by the National Park Service and customized to best serve VDHR. All records entered into IPS have been converted into DSS by VDHR and are now available on-line. The Phase VI database included a total of 1,010. With the completion of the data-entry in Phase VI and the conversion of the previously entered IPS records, the master DSS database for Arlington County contains 5,584 properties.

Analysis of Survey Findings

Statistical information was derived from the survey findings by producing computer-generated reports. These reports are designed to yield specific kinds of information for the appropriate analysis of survey findings. Some of the information entered into the database is factual, being based upon quantitative analysis; other information is evaluative, and is based upon Tracerics' understanding and evaluation of architectural and historical data collected during the survey. The computer-generated reports represent both factual and evaluative assessments, and provide statistics on important trends and aspects of the built environment of Arlington County.

The following analysis was prepared by architectural historians at Tracerics and is based upon a professional understanding of the historic properties and resources surveyed, taking into consideration the needs and requirements of Arlington County and VDHR.

- Identification of Properties

Each record in the computer represents a property, that is a location defined by a perimeter measurement, such as a lot or parcel of land or a determined environmental setting. One thousand ten properties were identified and surveyed during the course of this project. These properties were identified in two ways: first, by using the 1936 and 1954 Sanborn Fire Insurance Maps of Arlington County and the 1943 Franklin Survey of Arlington County which indicates the site of resources (i.e. the footprint of a building or structure); second, through visual identification of primary resources that were not indicated on the historic maps but appeared to hold architectural significance associated with the recent past.

- Categorization of Properties

Each property record is initiated with the determination of a property category for the property as an entity. This categorization reflects the type of resource that is considered to be the primary resource and the source of the property's historicity. The five property categories are as follows: building, district, structure, site, and object. The definitions used are included in National Register Bulletin: How to Apply the National Register Criteria for Evaluation as follows:

- |                  |  |
| Building: | A building, such as a house, barn, church, hotel, or similar construction, is created to shelter any form of human activity. "Building" may also refer to a historically, functionally related unit, such as a courthouse and jail or a house and barn.  |
| District  | A district possesses a significant concentration, linkage, or continuity of sites, buildings, structures, or objects united historically or aesthetically by plan or physical development.   |
| Site      | A site is the location of a significant event, a prehistoric or historic occupation or activity, or a building or structure, whether standing, ruined, or vanished, when the location itself possesses historic, cultural, or archeological value regardless of the value of any existing structure.   |
| Structure | The term "structure" is used to distinguish from buildings those functional constructions made usually for purposes other than creating human shelter.   |
| Object    | The term "object" is used to distinguish between buildings and structures those constructions that are primarily artistic in nature or are relatively small in scale and simply constructed. Although it may be, by nature and design, movable, it is associated with a specific setting or environment, such as statuary in a designed landscape. |

In Virginia, it is anticipated that a property will include at least one resource, usually considered its primary resource. The historic character of that resource is usually the basis upon which the determination of the property's overall historic or nonhistoric status is made.

The proper categorization of a property is dependent on the proper identification of the primary resource. For example, a property that includes a large residence built in the 1870s and several outbuildings from the same period would be categorized as a "BUILDING." Another property that includes a large residence built in 1995 near the foundation of an 18th century farmhouse would gain its historic status from the archeological potential of the site that is composed of the foundation and its environs, not from the no longer extant original building nor from the new house, therefore this property would be categorized a "SITE."

- Determination of Historic Status

The identification of properties and their categorization was followed by the determination of a historic status for the property. For this survey, historic was defined as possessing the capacity to convey reliable historic information about the physical and cultural development of Arlington County. It was not interpreted as a measure of the level of significance of that information.

Properties were considered HISTORIC if:

- the primary resource was fifty years of age or more; or
- the resource possessed the capacity to convey reliable historic information about the physical and cultural development of Arlington County.

Properties were determined to be NONHISTORIC if:

- the primary resource was less than fifty years of age;
- no primary resource was visually evident; or
- the primary resource was altered to a level that any historic integrity it might have possessed was significantly destroyed or obscured.

Primary Resources

For the 1,010 properties included in the database, nine different primary resource types were identified throughout the survey area. The following report identifies the number of identified resource types for each property:

Cemetery	1
Church	3
Commercial Building	6
Funeral Home	1
Meeting Hall	1
Multiple Dwelling	9

Single Dwelling	985

The Phase VI resulted in the identification of many of the same property types as several of the previous surveys – Phase I recorded eleven, Phase II recorded thirteen, Phase III recorded nine, Phase IV recorded seventeen, and Phase V documented thirteen. As indicated previously, the Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor is a major business and transportation thoroughfare that developed within a residential area. The housing was replaced with commercial structures, auto showrooms, financial institutions, and office buildings. The more recent urbanization of this Corridor has resulted in the loss of many alternate property types, particularly in the Ballston area and along Wilson Boulevard. This most-recent survey focused on residential neighborhoods, with minor non-domestic supporting properties located along the primary transportation routes.

- VDHR Historic Themes and Period Contexts

VDHR has defined eighteen cultural themes for Virginia's culture history from prehistoric times to the present. Although a property may relate to one or more of the defined themes, only the most relevant themes are indicated in the database.

ARLINGTON COUNTY SURVEY: VDHR THEMES	NUMBER OF ASSOCIATED PROPERTIES

Notably, the number of historic context themes identified during each phase is reduced as the on-site fieldwork progresses northward through the county. The greatest number of themes was recorded in Phase I, with eleven contexts noted. Phases II and III documented fourteen and nine themes, respectively. During Phase IV, the Industry/Processing/Extraction theme was identified for the first time. However, the seven other themes had been recorded in previous years. In Phase V, only seven of the themes were noted. Phase VI documented eight themes.

RECOMMENDATIONS

A. Recommendations for Further Study

- Phase VII Architectural Survey

The first six phases of the project completely surveyed Neighborhood Service Areas D, E, F, G and H, as well as the selected Target Areas. Neighborhood Service Area H was comprehensively surveyed to include resources erected prior to 1942, while Neighborhood Service Areas F and G were comprehensively surveyed to include resources erected prior to 1936. Portions of Neighborhood Service Area D included in the 1936 comprehensive survey are Lyon Park and Ashton Heights. The Target Areas -- Arna Valley and Columbia Heights West -- were documented to the 1942 date of construction, as indicated by historic maps. Within Service Area E, the community of North Highlands was comprehensively documented to the 1936 date of construction. The Rosslyn-Ballston Corridor between the Potomac River and Glebe Road along Wilson Boulevard was documented to the 1954 date of construction.

Therefore, it is recommended that those areas within Neighborhood Service Areas D, E, F, and G that were surveyed to the 1936 date should be further examined to insure the proper documentation of resources constructed between 1936 and 1954. Further survey and documentation should be comprehensively conducted in the Neighborhood Service Area C, beginning in the community of Stonewall Jackson, and Areas A and B.

- Properties to be Surveyed at the Intensive Level

The following properties were included in this survey at a reconnaissance level; however, the architectural and/or historical significance of the primary resource warrants intensive level survey as these properties may be eligible for the National Register of Historic Places.

1. House, 515 14th Street, North (000-5787)
2. House, 4810 9th Street, North (000-7953)

7. House, 4806 Wilson Boulevard (000-8073)
8. House, 1416 North Lincoln Street (000-8132)
9. House, 3600 14th Street, North (000-8153)

13. House, 1243 North Stuart Street (000-8262)

B. Evaluation/Recommendations for Designation

- Standards for Evaluation

The properties identified in the Phase VI Architectural Survey of Arlington County have been evaluated on a preliminary basis for their historic significance at the local, state, and national levels. As stated in the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Evaluation, evaluation is the process of determining whether identified properties meet defined criteria of significance and whether they should, therefore, be included in an inventory of historic properties determined to meet the established criteria.

In association with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Evaluation is the Secretary of the Interior's Guidelines for Evaluation. These guidelines describe the principles and process for evaluating the significance of the identified historic properties. In evaluating the historic resources of Arlington County, both the Standards and Guidelines for Evaluation were consulted. As a first step, the guidelines suggest that criteria used to develop an inventory of historic properties should be coordinated with the National Register of Historic Places. In the case of Arlington County, the evaluation process was conducted using the National Register of Historic Places criteria and the Virginia Landmarks Register criteria. The National Register of Historic Places is the official national list of recognized properties, which is maintained and expanded by the National Park Service on behalf of the Secretary of the Interior. The Virginia Landmarks Register criteria, established in 1966, are coordinated with those established for the National Register.

The National Register of Historic Places Criteria states:

The quality of significance in American history, architecture, archeology, and culture is present in districts, sites, buildings, and objects that possess integrity of location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling, and association, and:

- A. that are associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history; or
- B. that are associated with the lives of persons significant in our past; or
- C. that embodies the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction or that represents the work of a master, or that possesses high artistic values, or that represents a significant and distinguishable entity whose components may lack individual distinction; or
- D. that have yielded, or may be likely to yield, information important in prehistory or history.

Similarly, the Virginia Landmarks Register criteria are set forth in the legislation as follows:

No structure or site shall be deemed historic one unless it has been prominently identified with, or best represents, some major aspect of the cultural, political, economic, military, or social history of the State or nation, or has had a relationship with the life of an historic personage or event representing some major aspect of, or ideals related to, the history of the State or nation. In the case of structures which are to be so designated, they shall embody the principal or unique features of an architectural style or demonstrate the style of a period of our history or method of construction, or serve as an illustration of the work of a master builder, designer or architect whose genius influenced the period in which he worked or has significance in current times. In order for a site to qualify as an archaeological site, it shall be an area from which it is reasonable to expect that artifacts, materials, and other specimens may be found which give insight to an understanding of aboriginal man or the Colonial and early history and architecture of the state or nation.

A second consideration cited by the guidelines suggests that the established criteria should be applied within particular historic contexts. In the case of Arlington County, the criteria were examined to determine how they might apply to properties within the given context. The historic contexts are synonymous with the eighteen historic themes developed by the VDHR and listed as follows:

Domestic Theme: This theme relates broadly to the human need for shelter, a home place, and community dwellings.

Subsistence/Agriculture Theme: This theme most broadly seeks explanations of the different strategies that cultures develop to procure, process, and store food.

Government/Law/Political Theme: This theme relates primarily to the enactment and administration of laws by which a nation, state, or other political jurisdiction is governed; and activities related to politics and government.

Health Care/Medicine Theme: This theme refers to the care of sick, elderly and the disabled, and the promotion of health and hygiene.

Education Theme: This theme relates to the process of conveying or acquiring knowledge or skills through systematic instruction, training, or study, whether through public or private efforts.

Military/Defense Theme: This theme relates to the system of defending the territory and sovereignty of a people and encompasses all military activities, battles, strategic locations, and events important in military history.

Religion Theme: This theme concerns the organized system of beliefs, practices, and traditions regarding the worldview of various cultures and the material manifestation of spiritual beliefs.

Social Theme: This theme relates to social activities and institutions, the activities of charitable, fraternal, or other community organizations and places associated with broad social movements.

Recreation and the Arts Theme: This theme relates to the arts and cultural activities and institutions related to leisure time and recreation.

Transportation/Communication Theme: This theme relates to the process and technology of conveying passengers, materials, and information.

Commerce/Trade Theme: This theme relates to the process of trading goods, services, and commodities.

Industry/Processing/Extraction Theme: This theme explores the technology and process of managing materials, labor, and equipment to produce goods and services.

Landscape Theme: This theme explores the historic, cultural, scenic, visual and design qualities of cultural landscapes, emphasizing the reciprocal relationships affecting the natural and the human-built environment.

Funerary Theme: This theme concerns the investigation of gravesites for demographic data to study population, composition, health, and mortality within prehistoric and historic societies.

Ethnicity/Immigration Theme: This theme explores the material manifestations of ethnic diversity and the movement and interaction of people of different ethnic heritages through time and space in Virginia.

Settlement Patterns Theme: Studies related to this theme involve the analysis of different strategies available for the utilization of an area in response to subsistence, demographic, socio-political, and religious aspects of a cultural system.

Architecture/Landscape Architecture/Community Planning Theme: This theme explores the design values and practical arts of planning, designing, arranging, constructing and developing buildings, structures, landscapes, towns and cities for human use and enjoyment.

Technology/Engineering Theme: While the technological aspects of a culture form the primary basis of interpretation of all themes, this theme relates primarily to the utilization of and evolutionary changes in material culture as a society adapts to the physical, biological, and cultural environment.

After determining how the criteria applies, the Secretary of Interior's Guidelines for Evaluation suggests that the integrity of a property should be assessed. In evaluating the integrity, factors such as structural problems, deterioration, and abandonment should be considered if they have affected the significance of the property. In surveying the properties of Arlington County, the integrity of the resource was evaluated using the seven aspects as defined in National Register Bulletin: How to Apply the National Register Criteria for Evaluation. The aspects include location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling, and association. The seventh aspect, association, was not always evaluated while conducting on-site survey work, and often requires further archival research.

Based upon the state and national guidelines and criteria, all of the properties in Arlington County were evaluated for potential nomination to the Virginia Landmarks Register and the National Register of Historic Places.

- Recommendations for Designation to the National Register of Historic Places:

GlebeWood

Located in Neighborhood Service Area B, GlebeWood contains 105 single-family dwellings presented as seven rowhouses, a distinct building form and cohesive neighborhood in Arlington County. The facades of the individual dwellings are distinctly detailed, with varying roof forms, cladding materials, and stylistic influences. The rowhouses in GlebeWood, located adjacent to late-20th-century dwellings, are located on North 21st Road and North Brandywine Street, south of Lee Highway and west of North Glebe Road. Architect-designed, the rowhouses appear to date from the 1940s.

STUDY AREA FOR A PROPOSED HISTORIC DISTRICT IN GLEBEWOOD

Waverly Hills<sup>4</sup>

The neighborhood of Waverly Hills occupies the area bounded by Interstate-66, Lee Highway, Glebe Road, and Utah Street. The neighborhood consists largely of single-family dwellings. Multi-family housing units including apartments, condominiums, and townhouses are located in the northern section of the neighborhood, adjacent to the shopping areas. The 1990 census recorded 2,455 residents in Waverly Hills.

The majority of Waverly Hills was included in a land grant to James Brechin, rector of St. Peter's Parish in New Kent County in 1716. Brechin never lived on his Arlington holding and upon his death in 1721, Daniel Jennings, the surveyor of Fairfax County (in which Arlington was then a part), purchased the land. A small portion in the northwest corner of the Waverly Hills area was part of a grant in 1731 to James Robertson, a large landholder in what is present-day Arlington.

The Glebe House, a landmark of Arlington County, is located in Waverly Hills. The house was established on a 500-acre farm provided for the rector of Fairfax Parish, which included Christ Church in Alexandria and the Falls Church. The Glebe House, built in 1775, burned in 1808 and was rebuilt in 1820 as a hunting lodge. The octagon wing was added about 1850.

Although subdivision of the Glebe lands began in 1846, intense suburban development did not take place until after the turn of the 20th century. Laura Willett, owner of the Glebe House, sold 79 acres of land the house in May 1915. Part of the property was platted as Willette Heights, a subdivision that included the area bounded by Glebe Road, Utah Street, 15th Street, and the south side of 18th Street (now the southern portion of Waverly Hills). Willette Heights began to expand during the 1920s and 1930s. Added subdivisions included Clarendon, Waverly Hills Section 2, and Waverly Hills Section 3.

By 1940, the residential community was prospering, supported by commercial development to the north along Lee Highway at Glebe Road. During the 1950s and 1960s, commercial development began in earnest and businesses and apartments replaced many of the single-family dwellings along the edges of the community. The construction of Interstate 66 in the mid-1970s cut off the lower portion of Waverly Hills, which was then incorporated into the Ballston-Virginia Square Civic Association.

The neighborhood is a mixture of modest brick and wood-frame dwellings reflecting the styles and forms of the Colonial Revival, Cape Cod, and bungalow, with townhouse and garden apartment development along its edges.
